

LYMM WINE AND BEER CIRCLE NEWSLETTER SEPTEMBER 2016

Last Club Night

Harry Morris from Gerrard Seel gave us a very good wine tasting from the Americas. As well as tasting some excellent wines we also learnt a lot about Argentina, Chile and California. The most popular white was a Chilean Sauvignon Blanc and the most popular red was an Argentinian Malbec. In fact the wines were so good I forgot to take any photos. Sorry!!

Next Club Night – October 19th

This sees the return of our one and only David Smith, ably assisted by Angela with a music quiz. Come and enjoy a fun evening – there are prizes!!

THE LOTTERY

The lucky winner this month was Peter Head with number 43.

LAST SUNDAY WALK

Five walkers, two small children, Hattie and Scarlett, one baby, Evangeline and one dog, Benji met at The Little Manor on a lovely September morning. We walked through the pathway in between the houses up to the trans Pennine Trail then headed along a beautiful pathway for about a mile and a half, walked under the M6 then continued along the pathway until we crossed a bridge which took us to the Bridgewater canal. The sun continued to shine on us and after a short break by the side of the canal we continued along the canal, where we saw ducks, bantams and even a pot-bellied pig (luckily housed in someone's garden) until we once again reached The Little Manor where we had an excellent Sunday lunch.

NEXT WALK 23RD – organised by Peter and Anna

Start at the Saracens Head on Wilderspool Causeway opposite Greenhalls apartments.

PLEASE NOTE NOT THE SARACENS HEAD LYMM

A NEW IDEA!

Day-Time Get-togethers

The Committee think it might be a good idea for members to have the opportunity to meet up during the day-time. To ascertain the opinion of Club Members, attached to this Newsletter is a questionnaire which I hope you will complete and send back to me at jean@fsconsulting.co.uk or bring it to the next Club Night. If you prefer, I shall also be bringing it to the Club Night and you may fill one in then.

August Bank Holiday Caravanning.

Chairman goes back to basics.

For 35 years Al and I went every Bank Holiday with the wine circle, also on longer trips abroad. First we went with the children Chris, Tim and Phyll and later on our own. When Al died I sold the caravan.

In August Chris and I borrowed a tent and joined 8 other units at Alton in Staffordshire. It was all very posh now but the caravanners were still the same jolly lot.

The weather was mostly beautiful, hot interspersed with rain. The Peak District looked superb. Lovely green fresh hills and dales, babbling brooks and black faced sheep.

We visited Dovedale. Ilam and Alton were very pretty villages. Some went on a steam railway or visited the Museum of Childhood in Sudbury. Others stopped in the caravan and watched the Grand Prix. We came together at 5 for drinks and bbq and had a thoroughly good time.

Chris and I were very comfortable in the tent. Chris wondered why when he was in the scouts they managed to carry every for a week end on their backs including a crate of beer and we could hardly get everything in the car. Our friends provided us with boiling water, potatoes, frig space and joy of joy washing up and we thank them very much.

Cath and Derek provided a lovely buffet and fizz to mark the end of their caravanning career. Good luck for the new type of holiday they take.

Steve and Yvonne were great organizers and provided much entertainment as they developed a new dance, worthy of "Strictly" to resite their already erected awning.

Many thanks Steve for a great weekend.
